About Churches of Christ in Queensland

Churches of Christ in Queensland is a group of mainstream Christian churches which have been an active part of the Queensland community for over 100 years. Today, there are over 70 churches across the state from Cairns to the Gold Coast and from the outback to the coast.

Churches of Christ in Queensland is not a denomination, but rather a cooperative of independent local churches who each share a common belief and desire for unity in the Christian church. Independent churches come together for mutual support, to share resources and to support the wider mission of the church in Australia and overseas.

Our purpose is to strive towards the goal of everyone, anywhere, being connected with someone who knows and loves Jesus.

In addition to the local churches, we operate a range of theological, financial and care and support services that assist families, the elderly and people in need.

With over 45,000 Queenslanders involved regularly in our local churches or care services, we are proud to be an integral part of the Queensland community.

Mission statement

As a missional ministry, the women's ministry team aims to meet the true need of women where they are at, and equip and inspire them with solutions for living so they become the women God created them to be (physically, emotionally, spiritually) and do what God is calling them to do.

Our goals

1. To encourage and support mission to women throughout our churches in Queensland
2. To provide spiritual and financial support for missionary women
3. To create a network of individual churches bringing an awareness of the broader work
4. To support and encourage the wives of pastors
5. To support the women leaders in the local church
6. To maintain a link with the churches through our monthly magazine ConXion
7. To maintain a link with women's ministries of Churches of Christ in Australia and representation at Global Women Connecting (Churches of Christ)
8. To support, encourage and promote the committees running our camps/retreats.
